

Why Do I Do Art?

Regardless of the media, it is a snapshot of my soul. It allows me to reflect on my essence, my spirit, my life force...

Art is not what I do, it is who I am. It is the thing that still creates that little flutter inside, when I see it, participate in its creation or hear its name.

Art allows me to connect with the other forces of the universe that create and I see my thoughts materialize before my eyes, not through my hands, but through some divine collaboration.

Art is the light we all seek. It is our finest moment, not for the thing we created, but for the act of creation itself. It is a spiritual act that draws me in again and again.
